Connecting the Montessori Philosophy with the International Baccalaureate Curriculum

Shared Attributes:

Montessori

International Baccalaureate

Children's own love of exploration in developmentally-appropriate classrooms allows them to take the lead in their learning.

Student questions become the foundation of their inquiry, and drives their excitement to learn.

Inquiry & Exploration

Teachers are seen as a guide and assist children in finding their own strengths and capabilities.

The teacher as a facilitator empowers students with knowledge, leading the student to uncover and discover learning themselves.

Student Centered

The Montessori curriculum is international in its heritage and focus, and consciously seeks to promote a global perspective.

Focuses on international-mindedness, a view of the world in which people see themselves connected to the global community and assume a sense of responsibility to its members.

Global Focus

Multi-age classrooms allow students the opportunity to model learning and act as mentors for younger students.

Students are empowered to take action through projects that apply to the real world.

Leadership Development

Both Montessori and IB strive to inspire a passion for learning and work to develop and support the whole child.
